解答例

<解答例1> I agree with the statement that English language education should start before elementary school. Young children have an ideal capability of learning a foreign language, which is flexibility. Therefore, it would be possible for them to learn English much more easily than adults, regardless of grammatical or phonetic differences between two languages. (52 words)

<解答例2> I disagree with the statement that English language education should start before elementary school. There is no way that a child who has not developed a foundation in his or her native language can understand the structure of English. Such language education is incomplete and not conducive to their future. (50 words)
